BACKGROUND

The Agenda 2030 was agreed in September 2015 by the heads of state in the United Nations General Assembly. At the core of the 2030 Agenda are 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The universal, transformational and inclusive SDGs describe major development challenges for humanity. They cover global challenges that are crucial for the survival of humanity. They set environmental limits and set critical thresholds for the use of natural resources.

The goals address a range of social needs including education, health, social protection and job opportunities while tackling climate change and environmental protection. The SDGs address key systemic barriers to sustainable development such as inequality, unsustainable consumption patterns, weak institutional capacity and environmental degradation.

This introductory course provides an introduction to Sustainable tourism development guidelines and management practices which are applicable to all forms of tourism in all types of destinations, including mass tourism and the various niche tourism segments. Sustainability principles refer to the environmental, economic, and socio-cultural aspects of tourism development, and a suitable balance must be established between these three dimensions to guarantee its long-term sustainability.

In this version of the course, a general overview of how the COVID-19 pandemic has affected the tourism industry will be studied.

EVENT OBJECTIVES

The ultimate goal of the course is that participants will be able to understand and apply key concepts about sustainability to the management of tourism destinations, and also to understand the conceptual framework of the Sustainable Development Goals applied to tourism and know how to apply them in relation to the management of destinations. Lastly, to understand the importance of communication techniques to raise awareness of sustainability.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- To discover the link between sustainable tourism poverty by analysing how the creation of stable and decent employment and income-earning opportunities can contribute to better social services to the host communities, and to contribute to poverty alleviation.
- To acquire the required knowledge to apply optimal use of environmental resources

- To discuss how to maintain essential ecological processes and to help to conserve natural heritage and biodiversity
- To enable learners to collaborate, negotiate and communicate to promote the SDGs as well as self-reflection skills, values, attitudes and motivations that enable learners to develop them.
- To consider different ways of respecting the socio-cultural authenticity of host communities by conserving their built and living cultural heritage and traditional values
- To compose viable, long-term economic operations, providing socio-economic benefits to all stakeholders that are fairly distributed
- To learn about the COVID-19 pandemic and all its consequences
